Freshman
Veterinary Student chosen as Queen Representative

The veterinary students at Iowa State elected as their queen and as their contestant to the Veishea queen contest Miss Luann Arney. Miss Arney has been accepted to enter the College of Veterinary Medicine as a freshman next year. Her attractiveness and abilities speak for themselves, but it is noteworthy to mention some of her outside interests. Luann is a competent artist with some of her works having been selected for campus exhibitions. She has spent most of her summers as a camp counselor at East Lake Okoboji.
